

Gini is one part Cowgirl and one part Motorcycle girl. Gini is always wearing a smile, no matter what and she continues to amaze her family and friends with her positivity she through the entire cancer process. She is also known for how friendly and kind she is. A few years ago when a new girl named Brenna (with a kidney illness) came to her school, the other kids began making fun of her because she did not have any hair, Gini came to her defense and befriended her. They remain best friends to this day. She is a brave 12 year old beautiful girl!
